Ontic Singapore Facility Receives Certification from US Department Of Transportation, Federal Aviation Administration

Ontic, a BBA Aviation company and the aerospace industry's leading provider of 'Extended Life Solutions' for OEM legacy products, is proud to announce the certification by the United States of America Department of Transportation, Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) for its Singapore facility. This certification is in addition to EASA, CAAS, CAAC, DCA Thailand and DCA Malaysia certifications.

"Our Singapore facility is strategically situated to offer fast turnaround times on MRO services to customers who operate fleets in Asia Pacific and we have been purposefully pursuing certifications in order to support the region," President and Managing Director of Ontic Gareth Hall said. We look forward to expanding further into the Asia-Pacific market and supporting customers operating in the area."

The Singapore location currently serves as both repair station and storefront for a variety of OEM-licensed and acquired products, including fuel measurement systems aboard the Boeing B737 Classic and B777, Fokker 50, 70 and 100, as well as the Airbus A300, A318, A319 and A320.

Ontic is a wholly owned subsidiary of BBA Aviation plc, with over 42 years of aerospace product manufacturing and aftermarket support experience. Ontic provides FAA, CAAS, CAAC, TCCA, DCA, EASA Part 21 and 145 OEM support, including new and serviceable spares and repairs for over 4,500 maturing and legacy aircraft parts. Its portfolio of products, licensed or acquired from major OEMs such as Honeywell, UTC Aerospace, Safran, Thales and GE Aviation, span all major aircraft systems in both civil and military markets.
