ONTIC CONTINUES TO GROW AND STRENGTHEN ITS SERVICES GLOBALLY THROUGH ITS MRO FACILITY IN SINGAPORE

SINGAPORE... Ontic (Booth # 625), a BBA Aviation company and the aerospace industry's leading provider of 'Extended Life Solutions' for OEM legacy products, continues to strengthen their focus in the Asian – Pacific Market. Ontic's recent acquisition of GE Aviation's legacy avionics business, reinforces the company's commitment to providing support to the region, as well as globally. The acquisition increases the Singapore facility's civil capabilities and provides a gateway to our UK and US facilities for support across our global capabilities. The global increased capabilities include electro-mechanical, barometric, gyroscopes and further Avionic products. Key platforms associated with this latest acquisition include the Boeing 737, Sikorsky Sea King and Leonardo AW101 helicopters, Lockheed Martin C-130J transport and BAE Systems Hawk military trainer.

Today Ontic's Singapore facility has MRO certification with EASA & FAA along with the following regional countries, Singapore, Malaysia, Thailand and China. Ontic, the aerospace industry's leading producer of licensed and acquired OEM legacy products and systems, is eager to continue support to their Asia Pacific Regional Airline customers. The latest customers include Asiana Airlines, Bangkok Airways, Air New Zealand, Air Macau, CSA XinJiang, CSA ShengYang and Jetstar Japan.

"The establishment and continued growth of our MRO support services facility in Singapore demonstrates Ontic's global commitment to be where the customer needs us," stated Ontic President, Gareth Hall. "This facility also further supports our growing legacy avionics business as well as the fuel measurement systems products acquired from GE Aviation, continued Hall.

The facility is located at Singapore's Seletar Aerospace Park and is co-located with BBA Aviation's Dallas Airmotive Singapore Regional Turbine Center. The repair operation is a satellite to Ontic's, Cheltenham, UK facility and expands Ontic's global MRO services capabilities. In addition to Singapore, Ontic's global legacy focus is supported from manufacturing and MRO facilities in Chatsworth, California and Cheltenham in the United Kingdom.
